Located in La Eliana, this single-story detached house was built in 1996 and underwent a complete renovation in 2015. With 736 square meters of land and 182 square meters built, the property offers a practical and functional design. The living room features a fireplace and direct access to the garden, while the open kitchen has an exit to the plot. The house has four bedrooms with built-in wardrobes, two full bathrooms (one in the master bedroom), and an external toilet. Double-glazed PVC windows provide comfort to the house as they perfectly isolate noise and temperature. Heating is done through blue heat radiators, and the porcelain floor imitates parquet. The garden has automatic irrigation, along with a paella cooking area and a storage room. With an excellent location 10 minutes' walk from the town, close to El Osito Shopping Center, schools, and with easy access to the highway, this property presents itself as a convenient and well-connected option in La Eliana.
