Located in the Sant Francesc district in the heart of Valencia, on a very popular street. This area is one of the most beautiful neighborhoods of the city, a short distance from the most emblematic buildings and sights of Valencia. The building is a palatial mansion built in the nineteenth century by the architect Salvador Monmeneu Escrig. It is divided into three floors and also contains two commercial spaces. The legal use of the building is housing, except for the commercial space at street level which currently remains closed. The facade of the building offers beautiful features including a wonderful balcony viewpoint on the first floor, and many original features.
